NO SCORE TO THE GAME

Allegheny Could Not Beat the Eclipse Boys.

HARD FOUGHT FOOTBALL BATTLE

There Was Tugging, and Pushing, and Running and Falling; but the Ball Failed to Score a Touchdown or Cross a Goal—Some Interesting Incidents.

The Alleghenies came here to play football yesterday, confidently expecting to win the game without difficulty, but they went home in the evening a sadder and wiser set of young men, for they not only failed to carry off the honors, but did not get a score, while a weak point in the make up of the local team prevented them from winning.

The air was crisp and clear, and fully 2000 people gathered at the park to witness the contest, the boys lining up as follows:

Eclipse.	Position.	Allegheny.

From the moment the start was made there was war on the field. Each side fought and pushed without avail, since they were endeavoring to score. It could not be done. At times they played dangerously near one goal and then the scene was slowly shifted to the other, but without avail. Not a score was made, and not a man on either side but who fought persistently in keeping the others from making a point. At times it looked as though something would happen, but the opponents of the gaining side always succeeded in making a strong pull and winning back the lost ground. Seizing an opportunity to make a spurt, Taylor at one time got the ball in good chance, and losing no time he started on a long run around the left end. He ran with all the speed he could command, and a shout went up from the crowd when they saw him pull steadily away from the bunch. Then an Allegheny man began to gain on him, and although he attempted to keep in front the two came together and rolled over and over in the mud. But Taylor had advanced the ball. Then began a determined effort to keep it advancing and an equally determined effort to keep it back. Until the end of the first half they fought, but the position of the pigskin was little changed when the umpire called time.

The second half was almost a repetition of the first, although the playing was rougher and more energetic, several fresh men having replaced those who were in a bad way. Herbert, in one play, had the ball, and was running, when an Allegheny man fouled him by catching him around the neck. Both went down and the Liverpool boy, angered by the stranger's move, turned and while thinking he hit his opponent, dealt another player a blow on the neck. He was ruled out of the game, although some members of the team deemed his action justifiable, since he had been choked while down by an Allegheny man early in the game. Homer Taylor was struck by an Allegheny player, and knowing that he too would be ruled off if he used his fist, gave the man a kick that he will remember for a day or two. Several men were temporarily incapacitated for play during the game, but the only Liverpool man to get a painful injury was Will Hill. Allegheny had the ball, and the man was making a good run when Hill caught him and both went down. The Alleghenian who followed kicked Hill on the head, and for a few moments he knew nothing. At length the game closed without either side scoring, and the spectators went home satisfied that they had seen a good exhibition of football.

There was much wrangling during the game, members of the local team claiming the visitors were not playing as they should. The Alleghenies were accompanied by their physician Doctor McCreight, who greatly enjoyed the game.

OTHER GAMES.

There Will Be Two Contests in Town on Saturday.

The Eclipse team will play with Bethany on the West End grounds tomorrow, and the Rovers will face Youngstown at East End park. The Rovers have been showing well in practice and expect to make their Youngstown friends, although they compose the strongest team in Ohio, realize that Liverpool knows the game. The visitors will be banqueted and will occupy the boxes at the Grand tomorrow evening. The home team have ordered uniforms of black and amber but they have not yet arrived. The colors of Youngstown are blue and white. The game will be called at 4 o'clock, but the Rovers are called to meet at 281 East Market street at 2 o'clock.

PLEASANT EVENTS.

Some People Enjoyed Thanksgiving Very Well.

The Phoenix club danced last evening, and spent a few hours delightfully. Lunch was served at midnight.

One of the most pleasant parties ever given by the Columbian club was conducted on Wednesday evening, a large number of their friends being present.

The dance of the Catholic club in Bradshaw hall last evening was well attended and was a delightful entertainment. A number of Liverpool people attended the dance of the Catholic club in Wellsville on Wednesday evening.

The dance of the Alvin club yesterday afternoon was a splendid entertainment, and at its close the young ladies surprised the club members by serving them a sumptuous repast.

TO SHORTEN THE ROUTE.

The Baltimore and Ohio Back of the New Road.

It is learned from old railroad men, conversant with the moves that are constantly being made in the railway world, that the Baltimore and Ohio is back of the proposed Canton and East Liverpool road, the object being to shorten the distance between Chicago and Pittsburg. This information is drawn out by the statement that Baltimore and Ohio engineers are deeply interested in the surveys now being made, and that the road in question is so anxious to shorten its line to Chicago that this new move will be one of the best that could be made. The above information is what is being talked by railroad men in this part of the state.

BROKE HIS ARM.

Thomas Meredith Sustains a Painful Injury.

Thomas Meredith, son of George Meredith, was the victim of a painful accident in the Young Men's Christian association gymnasium yesterday afternoon. He stood on a chair, and made a strong jump for a horizontal bar near by, but the distance was so great that he could not obtain a firm hold on the bar and he fell to the floor. Medical aid was at once summoned, and it was found that the arm was broken in two places between the elbow and the wrist, both fractures being severe ones. The young man is getting along as well as could be expected.

THEY WERE MERRY.

Young Men's Christian Association Directors Feast.

The directors of the Young Men's Christian association held a meeting last evening and transacted routine business but did nothing of particular interest. After the session the whole party faced an appetizing lunch that had been prepared for the event. The business of the association is in excellent condition at present, and the directors feel greatly encouraged over the prospect. It costs money to carry on the institution, but there always seems a sufficient number of willing workers to raise it.

WARM FOR DEMOCRACY

W. V. Blake Made It So at the McKinley Club.

SOME VERY CAUSTIC COMMENTS

The Club Had a Meeting and Addresses Were Also Made by Colonel Watson and A. H. Clark, but Mr. Blake Carried Off the Honors of the Evening.

There was oratory at the meeting of the McKinley club last evening, the speakers arraigning the Democratic party with telling effect and touching upon matters past and present that would make the ears of some leaders tingle with pain had they chanced to be within hearing distance.

The attendance was good when it is considered that the evening was that of a holiday and there were many places for the members to spend the hours. Colonel Watson made an excellent speech and A. H. Clark touched upon important political matters, but the address of the evening was made by W. V. Blake who said:

"When Mr. Cleveland was elected president we were told of the great prosperity that the nation would enjoy and that Mr. Cleveland and his cabinet thoroughly understood the principles of political economy and that all our industries would be running night and day. Our pottery industry has not developed very much under the Wilson-Cleveland and Strauss-Gorman bill. Mr. Brice and I did not help us much either. I don't believe they understood our position or they ought have done differently. Consider for a moment the low rate of wages paid in continental Europe compared with wages paid in the United States, and to prevent competition in our line of industry the protection must necessarily be a steep one. The United States of all nations of the earth stands most in need of protection for this reason; whereas, nations of the old world have in a manner become affected, that is, they have arrived at limits of expense and development, and so for their overplus and overflow of population are compelled to take advantage of the new world, especially the United States portion of it. One result of an overplus of population must be a condition of cheapened labor; cheapened labor will produce cheapened commodities of trade. On the other hand the United States as a nation is yet in its infancy, vigorous, with healthy life and filled with hope. Its glory lies in the future and in this fact lurks a grand element of encouragement for its people, realizing that England and continental Europe can manufacture an article cheaper than the United States it seems most prudent that the government protect its manufacture and workers by a higher tariff. Among European nations trade with each other is imperative, for the simple reason none of them contains within itself resources sufficient to guarantee the supplying or affording to its people articles of general need comprising the products of mine, field and manufacture. One immense feature of our own country consists in the fact that we have within our own borders nearly every description of article demanded by our people. In this way our internal trade may be developed to an enormous extent. The north changing with the south, the east with the west, and it appears to me by keeping a McKinley barrier against Europe's cheapened productions, we foster a trade among ourselves that would more than compensate for what benefit might be derived by supplying to the people, through the medium of free trade a cheapened article and which at the same time would mean a reduction in wages to a par of continental Europe. I know of no sane man that would advance the argument such a change is desirable. It is not the fact of being able to purchase cheaply that constitutes national prosperity, but the condition of an active, vigorous and abundant money circulation, and nothing is so conducive to this as an active state of trade and manufacture. But, if foreigners are going to manufacture for us, what signifies a cheapened article if our own industries are shut down. The Wilson, Cleveland, Strauss and Gorman compromise opens the flood gates of our ports for foreign products made by cheap labor. Wilson and Cleveland policy is all right for Isador Strauss and his ilk; nearly 104,000 packages have been imported this year against 64,000 last year; make your own comparison. They are working full handed in England while the reverse is the case here. Anyone who will legislate for the welfare of a foreigner to the injury of his own country is a traitor. A short time ago I received a letter from a friend of mine in England, a large manufacturer. He says he does not want to see McKinley president, because it would injure and destroy English trade. Cleveland is the man they want. In the Cleveland chamber of commerce last evening, Mr. Carnegie stated that the United States government stood in a very humiliating position. He says that our first duty as citizens is to provide sufficient revenue for the best government that ever blessed man. It is patriotism we want. The United States government is today being swindled out of one-third of all revenues which it presumes to assess. We have plenty of importations—too little revenue, etc. But we do not secure the duties that have been levied upon them. Ninety-nine out of every 100 importers are Democrats. Therefore this high handed swindle cannot be laid at the door of Republicans. Today the revenue is less elastic, expenditure $200,000 per day greater, taxation is no lighter. Yet Mr. Cleveland and his cabinet committed themselves to a course of inflexible economy. Mr. Cleveland's administration has been characterized by a mysterious fatalism. The Democratic party has lost advantages that it will never gain again.

I know men in this town who voted for Mr. Cleveland, and until they redeemed themselves by voting the Republican ticket they were haunted by a ghostly phantom as bad as Banquo's ghost did Macbeth. Mr. Cleveland has done nothing beneficial to the nation. His chief characteristics seem to be ambiguity and vacillation and fishing, divided in authority, causing his cabinet to be unjust to their country's interest and unkind to her susceptibilities, caring less for the good will of the nation, and these glaring shortcomings and inconsistencies have caused the masses to resent such statesmanship. New Jersey, West Virginia, Kentucky and Maryland, and our own great state at our late election arose in the majesty of their might, condemning Mr. Cleveland and his free trade theories. The handwriting is seen upon the wall. Cleveland and his regime have been found wanting. The escutcheon of this great republic has recently been besmirched by a man who is better fitted for an imbecile asylum than minister plenipotentiary to Turkey.

"Congress convenes next week. I believe our own Bob Taylor will make a gallant fight for the restoration of McKinley duty on crockery; incidental protection will not be his plea. Glass, iron, steel, tin will have a champion in Bob Taylor. I am sure he will be able to render a good account of his stewardship at the end of his congressional career. With best wishes for the McKinley club, I will close."

At the conclusion of the address Mr. Blake was warmly applauded, the club joining heartily in the sentiment expressed.

LOSING COAL.

The Railroad Authorities Are Troubled by Thieves.

Bitter complaint is being made by the railroad company that coal is constantly being stolen from the cars that are allowed to stand on the Horn switch over night. The practice is also carried on at other side tracks. Detective Meehan has been here attempting to apprehend the thieves, but to the present time has met with little success. Another practice which the company officials are determined to break up is that of train jumping. It is confined largely to young boys, and reports of narrow escapes from death are constantly being heard.

BIG BUSINESS.

The Postoffice Never Did as Much Work Before.

Postmaster Miskall has been the busiest man in the city this week, while his force has scarcely known what it was to rest. The rush has been on second-class matter and was created by some of the large corporations in the city sending out a vast amount of advertising. It was delivered in baskets to the office, and two men had almost as much work as they could do wheeling it to the passenger station. Probably more tie sacks have been sent out during the week than ever before in the history of the office.

A DISGRACEFUL SCENE.

An Incident Near the Salvation Army Barracks.

It is unfortunate that a policeman was not near the Salvation Army barracks on Fourth street last evening, for had one been present Mayor Gilbert would have had a spicy case this morning. A young woman and two young men were on the street, and one man made himself obnoxious to pedestrians by using the vilest of profanity and insisting on a battle with the other fellow. The wrangle drew a crowd, and the principals deserved arrest since all seemed more or less interested.

IN VERY HARD LUCK

The Street Railway Had a Bad Day.

A LARGE SLIDE AT WALKER

Passengers Were Transferred in the Mud. A Car Off the Track at Brady's Later in the Day and Another On Fire in Wellsville the Night Before.

The mascot of the street railway was given a vacation yesterday, and during his absence the line was in trouble, three accidents causing expense to the owners and more or less inconvenience to the riding public.

The most serious mishap occurred yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when a few train loads of mud and stones slipped off the bluff above Walker, and blocked the track. Much inconvenience was the result, although a force of men were put at work cleaning away the dirt as soon as possible. Passengers were transferred in the mud, and there was a great deal of complaint. The slide proved to be much worse than was at first anticipated, and there was troublesome times on that part of the line until late in the afternoon.

Then came more trouble. A car in passing through the cut not far from Brady's decided to strike, and strike it did. The speed at the moment this decision was reached was high enough to admit of a serious accident had the car left the track a short distance from the cut either way for it would have gone over the bank which at that point is steep and dangerous. Here it became necessary to transfer again, and there was more complaint. Fortunately no one was hurt in the accident although the passengers were shaken up. One lady was thrown from the seat, but was not badly hurt. After a great deal of hard work the car was put on the track and traffic resumed.

The only amusing incident of the series occurred in Wellsville at a late hour Wednesday night. The motor-man realized that it was cold, and had a good fire in the stove. When he reached the square it was discovered that he had been too zealous for the old trap of a car he commanded, and the roof was on fire. It caught from the stove pipe, and was making some headway when it was discovered. A bucket of water from a neighboring restaurant served to extinguish the flames.

NOT DEAD.

The Bridge Company Will Have a Meeting Dec. 9.

The proposed bridge across the Ohio is not dead, and like Banquo's ghost, continues to appear with an enterprising regularity which is, to say the least, commendable. The corporation will meet at the residence of E. D. Marshall, over the river, one week from Monday, and will talk over their affairs, the call being signed by J. E. McDonald and George P. Rust, stockholders. What will be done cannot be learned at present, but that there is another move of more or less importance cannot be denied, since the meeting is a special one, and special meetings are not usually called for fun.

FOUND THE HORSE.

The Humane Society Got A. J. Boyce's Equine.

The horse owned by A. J. Boyce that was missing on Wednesday was found and returned to the owner. It strayed away from home, and was captured on Seventh street by some one who tied it to a post. Agent Lloyd noticed that the horse stood there during the greater part of the day, and had it taken to a stable where it was recognized, and soon after returned to the owner. The horse was reported as being stolen.

IT IS OFF.

The Sanitary Strike Is No More at Trenton.

The following special from Trenton will interest potters in this city: The sanitary pottery employes will return to work on Monday. They have been on strike for eight weeks, the chief differences with the bosses being over an alleged excessive hiring of apprentices. The men, in meeting this morning, decided on the surrender, but were in favor of any potteries outside of Trenton continuing the strike if deemed advisable.

Two Arrests.

William Stewart was arrested in Drury lane last night by Officer Meador and paid $5.00.

Officers Meador and Welsh arrested William Althar in East End last night. He is charged with tapping a till.

BIG BUSINESS.

The Postoffice Never Did as Much Work Before.

Postmaster Miskall has been the busiest man in the city this week, while his force has scarcely known what it was to rest. The rush has been on second-class matter and was created by some of the large corporations in the city sending out a vast amount of advertising. It was delivered in baskets to the office, and two men had almost as much work as they could do wheeling it to the passenger station. Probably more tie sacks have been sent out during the week than ever before in the history of the office.

A DISGRACEFUL SCENE.

An Incident Near the Salvation Army Barracks.

It is unfortunate that a policeman was not near the Salvation Army barracks on Fourth street last evening, for had one been present Mayor Gilbert would have had a spicy case this morning. A young woman and two young men were on the street, and one man made himself obnoxious to pedestrians by using the vilest of profanity and insisting on a battle with the other fellow. The wrangle drew a crowd, and the principals deserved arrest since all seemed more or less interested.

IN VERY HARD LUCK

The Street Railway Had a Bad Day.

A LARGE SLIDE AT WALKER

Passengers Were Transferred in the Mud. A Car Off the Track at Brady's Later in the Day and Another On Fire in Wellsville the Night Before.

The mascot of the street railway was given a vacation yesterday, and during his absence the line was in trouble, three accidents causing expense to the owners and more or less inconvenience to the riding public.

The most serious mishap occurred yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when a few train loads of mud and stones slipped off the bluff above Walker, and blockaded the track. Much inconvenience was the result, although a force of men were put at work cleaning away the dirt as soon as possible. Passengers were transferred in the mud, and there was a great deal of complaint. The slide proved to be much worse than was at first anticipated, and there was troublesome times on that part of the line until late in the afternoon.

Then came more trouble. A car in passing through the cut not far from Brady's decided to strike, and strike it did. The speed at the moment this decision was reached was high enough to admit of a serious accident had the car left the track a short distance from the cut either way for it would have gone over the bank which at that point is steep and dangerous. Here it became necessary to transfer again, and there was more complaint. Fortunately no one was hurt in the accident although the passengers were shaken up. One lady was thrown from the seat, but was not badly hurt. After a great deal of hard work the car was put on the track and traffic resumed.

The only amusing incident of the series occurred in Wellsville at a late hour Wednesday night. The motor-man realized that it was cold, and had a good fire in the stove. When he reached the square it was discovered that he had been too zealous for the old trap of a car he commanded, and the roof was on fire. It caught from the stove pipe, and was making some headway when it was discovered. A bucket of water from a neighboring restaurant served to extinguish the flames.

NOT DEAD.

The Bridge Company Will Have a Meeting Dec. 9.

The proposed bridge across the Ohio is not dead, and like Banquo's ghost, continues to appear with an enterprising regularity which is, to say the least, commendable. The corporation will meet at the residence of E. D. Marshall, over the river, one week from Monday, and will talk over their affairs, the call being signed by J. E. McDonald and George P. Rust, stockholders. What will be done cannot be learned at present, but that there is another move of more or less importance cannot be denied, since the meeting is a special one, and special meetings are not usually called for fun.

FOUND THE HORSE.

The Humane Society Got A. J. Boyce's Equine.

The horse owned by A. J. Boyce that was missing on Wednesday was found and returned to the owner. It strayed away from home, and was captured on Seventh street by some one who tied it to a post. Agent Lloyd noticed that the horse stood there during the greater part of the day, and had it taken to a stable where it was recognized, and soon after returned to the owner. The horse was reported as being stolen.

IT IS OFF.

The Sanitary Strike is No More at Trenton.

The following special from Trenton will interest potters in this city: The sanitary pottery employees will return to work on Monday. They have been on strike for eight weeks, the chief differences with the bosses being over an alleged excessive hiring of apprentices. The men, in meeting this morning, decided on the surrender, but were in favor of any potteries outside of Trenton continuing the strike if deemed advisable.

Two Arrests.

William Stewart was arrested in Drury lane last night by Officer Meador and paid $5.00. Officers Meador and Welsh arrested William Althar in East End last night. He is charged with tapping a till.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, NOV. 29.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
OF OHIO.

The agitation having for its object
the abolition of spring elections seems doomed to an early death. Ohio politicians could no more exist without that time honored custom than could a Columbian county farmer observe Thanksgiving without a turkey.

It is a poor Washington correspondent who can not send his paper the exact lines upon which the president's message is drawn, and if it should so happen that they all tell the truth, congress will next week
listen to a crazy patchwork of advice, unequalled in the annals of the country.

IN A BAD WAY.

According to the New York Herald
the Democratic party is in a bad way, and can have no other candidate for the presidency except Grover Cleveland. Hear what it says:

"Where is the Democratic leader outside of Cleveland, under present national conditions, who can take and wield the sword of Excalibur? Call the roll. Sumner statesman after statesman. The South is immersed in the morass of this wretched negro business, and, as a political power, swinging on the tail of the tiger of Tammany. The West bewitched with silver. New England under the sophomore lead of political boys. New York swayed by Hill, the Robert Mac-aire of Democracy. Pennsylvania drenched with Republicanism—no room for even a Democratic rat to breathe and swim in that Niagara-flooded state. New Jersey ruined by the sugar trust. Gorman in Maryland, a shipwrecked mariner, clinging to his spar and drifting toward the breakers. Brice buried beneath a thousand fathoms of political terror and dismay. Carlisle repudiated by his own state, nothing apparently left but to take to preaching and lead
some Salvation Army movement.
Blackburn tossed about in the winds in reckless ecstasy. These are the Democratic leaders and leaderships.
What remains?"

When a high Democratic authority talks in this strain, there is room for the belief that the dissolution of the party will not long be delayed.

W. A. McGuire, a well known citizen of McKay, O., is of the opinion that there is nothing as good for children troubled with colds or croup as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He has used it in his family for several years with the best results and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. After having a gripe he was himself troubled with a severe cough. He used other remedies without benefit and then concluded to try the children's medicine and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure.

THE POWERS AROUSED.

Orders Delayed For Gunboats
to Pass Dardanelles.

WARSHIPS MAY ESCORT THEM.

The Porte Has the Forts Ready to Make a Stubborn Resistance—Russians Make Warlike Preparations on the Black Sea—Troops in Asia Minor.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 29.—In spite of the assurances which the Turkish minister of foreign affairs, Tewfik Pasha, gave the ambassadors of Great Britain, Russia, Austria and Italy that the firmans allowing the passage through the Dardanelles of four extra guardships for the use of their embassies would be immediately issued by the porte, the necessary documents have not been forthcoming. Consequently, a serious condition of affairs, which was looked upon as having been definitely cleared up, is now again perplexing the ambassadors and threatening to cause the adoption of strong measures upon the part of the powers.
Frequent conferences between the ambassadors have taken place on the subject during the past 24 hours and there has been many consultations between the Turkish ministers and the sultan at the palace regarding the same matter. The ambassadors have also been in communication with the palace as well as with their respective governments. The powers will likely have the extra gunboats conveyed through the Dardanelles by battleships if the sultan persists in his dilatory tactics.
That the porte anticipates trouble is evident from the fact that all the forts about the straits are now fully manned and supplied with ammunition and efficiency compatible with the circumstances. Search lights are kept in good order and are worked nightly over the waters. For over a month past the work of strengthening the fortifications in this vicinity, and particularly about the Dardanelles, has been in progress and it is understood that the system of submarine mines and torpedoes has been practically completed
so far as the resources of the government will allow it.
As to the system of mines and torpedoes about the Dardanelles, they do not cause much apprehension among the foreign officers here. They believe that a few torpedo catchers could cut the shore-connecting wires in short order and that a little countermining would do the rest.

Most startling reports are still current here regarding the preparations for trouble being made by Russia in her Black sea ports and along the frontier of Asiatic Turkey. The different divisions of the Black sea fleet, regular and volunteer, are said to have been brought up to the highest point of efficiency and to be ready for immediate operations. The Black sea dockyards and coaling depots have undoubtedly been very busy, according to the reports of ship captains who have passed Constantinople, and the greatest activity was noticed by them in military circles.

The anxiety caused by the absence of direct news from Syria increases. It is reported, however, that large numbers of Turkish troops have been drafted
there and a religious war seems imminent. The soldiers are said to be bearing the green flag of Mohammedism instead of the regular Turkish flag; denoting, it is claimed, that although the authorities assert that this mustering of fighting men is for the purpose of putting down the insurrection of the Druses, a wholesale onslaught upon the Christians of Syria may be anticipated. Jerusalem is said to be crowded with Turkish troops and Palestine is reported to be overrun with the soldiers of the sultan. This is considered to be one of the most dangerous features of the present situation.

A dispatch from Beyrout confirms the reports of the grave state of affairs existing in Syria and Palestine and the repeated danger in which the American mission has been placed by the riotous demonstrations of the Mussulmen.

The dispatch adds that the whole of Syria and Palestine are flooded with Turkish soldiers, and states that in the country between Jaffa and Jerusalem there are 60,000 troops, all raised within the last 20 days.

The Daily News correspondent adds:
"The troops arrived here bear the significant green flag of the prophet instead of the Turkish flag. Jerusalem is crowded with soldiers, and troops are being stationed in the tower of David, Pilate's palace and in the villages outside the Damascus gate.

The ostensible purpose of the troops is to subdue the Druses."

EXTINCTION OF THE SEAL

The United States Will Try to Enlist
Canada's Aid to Save Them.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Nov. 29.—
Captain C. L. Hooper, superintendent of the navy revenue cutters of the coast, arrived from Washington en route to San Francisco. He is instructed to overhaul and thoroughly equip all cutters on the coast and have them in readiness for active service next spring.
He admitted that the government officials were much concerned over the total extinction of the seal herds in the Pacific ocean the next few years unless prompt measures are taken at once to protect the animals.

Captain Hooper intimated the United States government would probably propose to Canada this winter the adoption of regulations to stop the wholesale slaughter of female seals.

Strikers Will Return to Work.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 29.—The Sanitary pottery employes will return to work on Monday. They have been on strike for eight weeks, the chief differences with the bosses being over an alleged excessive hiring of apprentices.
The men, in meeting this morning, decided on the surrender, but were in favor of any potteries outside of Trenton continuing the strike if deemed advisable.

spectively.

United States.

years old, has a wife and three children.

Nichols, a farmer, living seven miles and almost instantly killed her.

THANKSGIVING FOOTBALL.

The University of Pennsylvania Defeats
Cornell at Philadelphia—Other Games.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—The University of Pennsylvania football eleven, defeated the Cornell team Thanksgiving day by the score of 46 to 2, thus winding up the football season with a clean record of victories to her credit.
Two touchdowns and a goal from the field in the first half and four touchdowns and a goal from the field in the second half was the record of the Red and Blue. Cornell had to satisfy herself with a safety.

Strategic play, scientific punts and brilliant all-around interference were the features of Pennsylvania's game.
Cornell's defeat can be summed up in very few words, weak defense and still weaker interference. Cornell's fullback, Ritchie, was lamentably weak, and an exchange of kicks between him and Brooks was always good for from 10 to 20 yards gain for the Pennsylvania team.

There were individual players on the Cornell team who covered themselves with glory. Beacham at left halfback, Fitch at left tackle and Sweetland at right tackle played brilliantly,
as did also Captain Wyckoff, considering his condition. Pennsylvania made her gains at almost any point which the team would strike.

Brooke made one 45-yard run, and also a 75-yard run, but in the latter the ball was brought back and given to Cornell for holding. Minds also made one run of 45 yards and Gelbert carried the ball 40 yards, through the entire team, before being caught from behind by Tausch. Farrar, at right tackle, played his best game of the season. Woodruff, Minds, Gelbert, Williams and Brooke also played brilliantly. Seventeen thousand people saw the game.

Football Players Fight.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29.—The game between the Cincinnati university and in a fight.

The Carlisle Indians Won.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—About 4,000

These are the Democratic leaders and leaderships. What remains?"

When a high Democratic authority talks in this strain, there is room for the belief that the dissolution of the party will not long be delayed.

W. A. McGuire, a well known citizen of McKay, O., is of the opinion that there is nothing as good for children troubled with colds or croup as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He has used it in his family for several years with the best results and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. After having a gripe he was himself troubled with a severe cough. He used other remedies without benefit and then concluded to try the children's medicine and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

THE POWERS AROUSED.

Orders Delayed For Gunboats to Pass Dardanelles.

WARSHIPS MAY ESCORT THEM.

The Porte Has the Forts Ready to Make a Stubborn Resistance—Russians Make Warlike Preparations on the Black Sea—Troops In Asia Minor.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 29.—In spite of the assurances which the Turkish minister of foreign affairs, Tewfik Pasha, gave the ambassadors of Great Britain, Russia, Austria and Italy that the firmans allowing the passage through the Dardanelles of four extra guardships for the use of their embassies would be immediately issued by the porte, the necessary documents have not been forthcoming. Consequently, a serious condition of affairs, which was looked upon as having been definitely cleared up, is now again perplexing the ambassadors and threatening to cause the adoption of strong measures upon the part of the powers.

Frequent conferences between the ambassadors have taken place on the subject during the past 24 hours and there has been many consultations between the Turkish ministers and the sultan at the palace regarding the same matter. The ambassadors have also been in communication with the palace as well as with their respective governments. The powers will likely have the extra gunboats conveyed through the Dardanelles by battleships if the sultan persists in his dilatory tactics.

That the porte anticipates trouble is evident from the fact that all the forts about the straits are now fully manned and supplied with ammunition and have been placed in the highest state of efficiency compatible with the circumstances. Search lights are kept in good order and are worked nightly over the waters. For over a month past the work of strengthening the fortifications in this vicinity, and particularly about the Dardanelles, has been in progress and it is understood that the system of submarine mines and torpedoes has been practically completed so far as the resources of the government will allow it.

As to the system of mines and torpedoes about the Dardanelles, they do not cause much apprehension among the foreign officers here. They believe that a few torpedo catchers could cut the shore-connecting wires in short order and that a little countermining would do the rest.

Most startling reports are still current here regarding the preparations for trouble being made by Russia in her Black sea ports and along the frontier of Asiatic Turkey. The different divisions of the Black sea fleet, regular and volunteer, are said to have been brought up to the highest point of efficiency and to be ready for immediate operations. The Black sea coxswains and coal depots have undoubtedly been very busy, according to the reports of ship captains who have passed Constantinople, and the greatest activity was noticed by them in military circles.

The anxiety caused by the absence of direct news from Syria increases. It is reported, however, that large numbers of Turkish troops have been drafted there and a religious war seems imminent. The soldiers are said to be bearing the green flag of Mohammedism instead of the regular Turkish flag; denoting, it is claimed, that although the authorities assert that this mustering of fighting men is for the purpose of putting down the insurrection of the Druses, a wholesale onslaught upon the Christians of Syria may be anticipated. Jerusalem is said to be crowded with Turkish troops and Palestine is reported to be overrun with the soldiers of the sultan. This is considered to be one of the most dangerous features of the present situation.

A dispatch from Beyrout confirms the reports of the grave state of affairs existing in Syria and Palestine and the repeated danger in which the American mission has been placed by the riotous demonstrations of the Mussulmen.

The dispatch adds that the whole of Syria and Palestine are flooded with Turkish soldiers, and states that in the country between Jaffa and Jerusalem there are 60,000 troops, all raised within the last 20 days.

The Daily News correspondent adds: "The troops arrived here bear the significant green flag of the prophet instead of the Turkish flag. Jerusalem is crowded with soldiers, and troops are being stationed in the tower of David, Pilate's palace and in the wilderness outside the Damascus gate. The ostensible purpose of the troops is to subdue the Druses."

EXTINCTION OF THE SEAL. The United States Will Try to Enlist Canada's Aid to Save Them.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Nov. 29.—Captain C. L. Hooper, superintendent of the coast, arrived from Washington en route to San Francisco. He is instructed to overhaul and thoroughly equip all cutters on the coast and have them in readiness for active service next spring. He admitted that the government officials were much concerned over the total extinction of the seal herds in the Pacific ocean the next few years unless prompt measures are taken at once to protect the animals.

Captain Hooper intimated the United States government would probably propose to Canada this winter the adoption of regulations to stop the wholesale slaughter of female seals.

THANKSGIVING FOOTBALL.

The University of Pennsylvania Defeats Cornell at Philadelphia—Other Games.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—The University of Pennsylvania football eleven, defeated the Cornell team Thanksgiving day by the score of 46 to 2, thus winding up the football season with a clean record of victories to her credit. Two touchdowns and a goal from the field in the first half and four touchdowns and a goal from the field in the second half was the record of the Red and Blue. Cornell had to satisfy herself with a safety.

Strategic play, scientific punts and brilliant all-around interference were the features of Pennsylvania's game. Cornell's defeat can be summed up in very few words, weak defense and still weaker interference. Cornell's full back, Ritchie, was lamentably weak, and an exchange of kicks between him and Brooks was always good for from 10 to 20 yards gain for the Pennsylvania team.

There were individual players on the Cornell team who covered themselves with glory. Beacham at left half-back, Fitch at left tackle and Sweetland at right tackle played brilliantly, as did also Captain Wyckoff, considering his condition. Pennsylvania made her gains at almost any point which the team would strike.

Brooke made one 45-yard run, and also a 75-yard run, but in the latter the ball was brought back and given to Cornell for holding. Minds also made one run of 45 yards and Gilbert carried the ball 40 yards, through the entire team, before being caught from behind by Taussig. Farrar, at right tackle, played his best game of the season. Woodruff, Minds, Gilbert, Williams and Brooke also played brilliantly. Seventeen thousand people saw the game.

AN ELOQUENT SERMON

Was the Thanksgiving Effort of Doctor Huston.

IT WAS FILLED WITH TRUTHS

God hath Not Dealt So With Any Nation Was the Text, and the Reverend Gentleman Treated It In His Best Manner—A Reference to Armenia.

A splendid representative audience was present at the Methodist Protestant church on Thanksgiving morning, to take part in the union services. Reverends Taggart, Lee, Huffer, Whitehead and Huston occupied the platform. The services were opened with the singing of the doxology by a full choir, rendering superb melody. Invocation by Reverend Huffer, followed with anthem "Praise Ye the Lord." Scripture lesson by Reverend Lee. Song selection, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Prayer by Reverend Taggart. Anthem by choir, and then followed the address of the day, which is given in full, at the earnest solicitation of our readers:

147th psalm, 20th verse: "God hath Not dealt so with any nation." It is not our purpose on this Thanksgiving occasion to dwell upon the usual subjects presented at such an hour; but on the material blessings—the fruits of the field, though certainly we never had a year more prolific; our granaries are full; our store houses are running over; nor do we propose to speak of our protection; God has not permitted the pestilence, the famine, the war, to come near our shores, nor do we propose to dwell on the spiritual mercies which have come so richly to us, but rather on the providence of God in our natural existence. (Exegesis omitted.) The Jewish nation was peculiar for its conservatism, its separation from other nations—that was necessary for the object to be attained, the development of the idea of incarnation. The preparation of a people, in thought and desire, for the visitation of Deity: when the word should be made flesh and dwell among them, the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth. The American nation is peculiar for a principle directly the opposite; its nearness to, and because of its composition from all other nations. As there is such a thing as the laws of a nation, so likewise there are the laws of the nations; and as there are national providences, so there are international providences. These latter figure conspicuously in the history of our beloved republic. If the former thought were necessary to the purpose of Israel, the latter is essential to the providence of God in American history. Our fathers came here for empire. They have founded it, so that, as an authority upon this subject has said, (Mr. Frost) the increase of our property in 20 years will buy the entire German empire. I say they have founded an empire—an empire in which every new-born babe is an heir apparent to the throne. We have thought that the words of this text might be beautifully and truthfully applied to the nation; we doubt if, in the history of the world, there has been a nation placed in an age, or in relations so pregnant with forceful issues. An opportunity to uplift so far, reaching to the truth. We propose to indicate some facts bearing on this, first from the age, and second from the questions that this nation has been called on to decide. We do not make this a didactic—now, that obscure word is not the one I desire to use—systematic, or exclusive division, but shall use and intermingle the propositions as the progress of the thought may demand. A nation means, first the body of inhabitants of a country, united under the same government; the second element is a people distinguished from those of different descent. The first thought predominates in this nation. Let us take the scope of this text—"God has not dealt so with any nation;" not simply of this age, but of all ages. We may concede that there have been nations whose domain has been as great, or whose authority has been as imperative; but where has there been a nation whose providential influences have been so far reaching—may we not say world wide. Where a nation which could say, to so many people, 'I am bone of your bone and flesh of your flesh.' As this is true of the nation, it is true of the people that compose it. The people are the nation.

Why do you live in this age? Why do you stand on this mountain in time, rising higher than all others and affording such a prospective view? As we look at the past and see the vast empires that have risen and fallen, we think of the world as wrinkled and gray with age. Nevertheless, when we look at the problems that are in their initial stage, as we sum up the provisions in nature for future generations, as we reflect on the millions of years that this world was in preparation for man's home, as we consider that Israel's God is never improvident, we say, 'the world is yet clothed in the garments of childhood.' She has scarcely passed by Bethlehem. Standing on this mountain, looking over the sweep of the ages, why of all the ages do we live in this time? God has appointed us to live now. With the psalmist we may say, 'our times are in Thy hands.' What occasion for gratitude. Or why was our lot not cast in India, or China, or Africa, or Armenia, or some place where we would not have heard the story of the cross? Because God hath graciously appointed our existence here. Shall we not unite in giving thanks? Why do we continue to live under so many auspicious circumstances? Many of our friends and neighbors have dropped out of line during the past years. It is because God has something for us to do. How blessed the thought of David, 'the Lord thinketh on me.' The American nation is the right nation in the right place. This continent was simultaneous in its discovery and progress with the reformation. These two principles have walked steadily through the decades, the one the complement of the other. About the same time printing was discovered, which we sometimes think of as the apocalyptic angel of the new dispensation, bearing, in the midst of the heavens, the everlasting gospel to every nation, tribe, kindred and people. Near the same time was the discovery of the compass, that matchless guide of the high seas. This nation arose when the nations of Europe were crowding each other: when tyranny was dominant; when every day there was danger of an explosion; it came on demand; it was to be the safety valve. The importance of the American nation is largely affected and intensified by the international issues of the age. The first question we consider is that of rule in Afghanistan by England or Russia. It is 80 years old. But the times indicate that it is near its culmination. It may be palliated for a few years, yet the lines are drawn so closely and the interests are so vast that it must soon break forth, inflamed and deepened, like a sore healed only on the surface. The science of medicine teaches that the healthy healing of a wound must begin at the deepest part. It is so in international dispute—the healing must begin at the foundation. The question to be settled is whether England or Russia shall rule in Afghanistan? Back of that, and very closely allied to it, which shall rule in India. And now there has been added China to the problem. All this means Mohammedanism or Christianity—the crescent or the cross for all of Asia, 850,000,000 of people, more than half the population of the globe. The advances of Russia and her usurpations for 50 years manifest her designs.

It is said, in diplomatic circles, Russia has stolen a march on England by coming into close and confidential relations with the Chinese government. Russia has made China a large preliminary loan, and the French government, with the aid of Parisian bankers, has found the money for Russia. There have no doubt been private stipulations, and it has been affirmed that the trans-Siberian railroad will find a route across China's territory to an advantageous harbor; and it is freely predicted that Port Arthur will fall into the hands of Russia. But old England never sleeps; she has simply placed these usurpations in the archives of the state, until final settlement shall come. Her queen, who is the princess of India, rules more Mohammedans than the sultan of Turkey. When this settlement comes, England will give the last man and the last dollar to maintain the honor of the queen. Russia has some advantages. She is neutral in religion. She does not endeavor to force the Greek church upon the Mohammedans. Where England rules, Protestantism will be taught and protected. When, some ten years ago, the question was up and discussed in the quarterlies and magazines, I was very much surprised to find Christian writers expressing themselves in sympathy with Russia, saying, "England needs a lesson; she is a tyrant; I hope she will be whipped." What has Russia ever done for humanity? What would the overthrow of English rule in the East mean? This: when the Son of Righteousness was rising upon eight hundred and fifty millions of people; when sunlight had come, that she should be turned back in her course

LOCAL BREVITIES.

There is a special meeting of the clerks' union tonight.

Postmaster Baird, of the East End, is recovering from a bad attack of the grip.

The work of lowering the sewers on the Calcutta road is ended. It was made necessary by the grading.

The Chevalier club will entertain this evening at their rooms on Sixth street, euchre being the amusement.

John Rinehart was given judgment in the court of Squire Morley this morning against Frank Balmert for $20, the balance of an account.

W. A. Calhoun says he is not an applicant for a place as umpire in the National league, and that his work in this city requires all his attention.

Turtle Creek is located above Pittsburgh some few miles. A great and wonderful phenomena has been located at Turtle Creek. More anon. Selah.

William Haight, of Fourth street, yesterday received a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that W. Lunderwood, his brother-in-law, had died at Sistersville, of typhoid fever.

A Wellsville man is said to have been knocked down on East Market late last night by an East End potter, the row being the result of a political argument. Both were under the influence.

A Second street woman was very drunk on Broadway last night, and was making her presence known by loud shouts and whoops, when a member of the Salvation Army saved her from arrest by taking her home.

Tommy York, the wheelman whose name was in the mouths of all people interested in bicycle racing last summer, was here yesterday visiting at the home of his parents on Calcutta road. He is now employed in Youngstown.

Many sportsmen spent yesterday in the woods, and those who went far from town were rewarded for their long tramp. Price Mountford and Jonah Rambort went beyond Frankfort Springs, and returned with 18 rabbits.

James Rowe, the manager of a Zanesville tile works, but formerly engaged in this city as a member of the pottery firm of Rowe & Mountford, was here today calling on oldtime friends. The gentleman is meeting with success in Zanesville.

Railings have been erected on the culverts in the East End and fences have been built on each side of the run. The improvement makes the road safe, as fear was felt that Martin Leatherow would sue the city for damages because he fell off the Mulberry street culvert and broke his arm not long ago.

Mrs. King, of Fifth street, is home from Springfield, where she attended a meeting of the trustees of the Odd Fellows home. Five different plans for the new building were presented, the cost ranging between $35,000 and $40,000, but none were accepted. They agreed upon a plan which will be presented at the next meeting of the grand lodge, which will be held next May.

Officer King has taken down the last notice of contagious disease, lifted the last quarantine, and fumigated the last house. Once more the city is in very good health, there not being a case of dangerous disease in town. Alleys and back yards have been well cleaned for the winter, the last rain having done much to wash away the accumulated filth and garbage of the long draught.

The sewer pipe trade is in anything but a flourishing condition, and all the plants on the river are closed down with the exception of three. Walker's and Lythe's being among the fortunate. The bid for the contract at New Orleans may result in something good, but there is small hope among the manufacturers since there are pipe works along the Mississippi, and freights are much lower.

The muddy bosom of the Ohio has been the scene of activity and hard work the past few days, particularly yesterday and last night, when many towboats passed the city. A vast amount of coal went out, and there is no longer a scarcity. The river is now falling, but rivermen think the weather report for tomorrow means more water, provided it does not get too cold. The present stage, it is predicted, will last long enough to allow the coal men to get their product to market, as the boats are making good time.

The fog this morning was the most dense for months, and caused more than the usual inconvenience. The ferryboat was laid up until half the morning was gone, and parties having business in West Virginia were compelled to go over in skiffs, and the result was no end of a muddle. Some of them landed as far down as the glass works, and one boat turned in the river without the knowledge of the rowers and came back to this side. Street car men moved with more than the usual caution, but the schedule was maintained.

Was the Thanksgiving Effort of Doctor Huston.

IT WAS FILLED WITH TRUTHS

God hath Not Dealt So With Any Nation. Was the Text, and the Reverend Gentleman Treated It In His Best Manner—A Reference to Armenia.

A splendid representative audience was present at the Methodist Protestant church on Thanksgiving morning, to take part in the union services. Reverend Taggart, Lee, Huffer, Whitehead and Huston occupied the platform. The services were opened with the singing of the doxology by a full choir, rendering superb melody. Invocation by Reverend Huffer, followed with anthem "Praise Ye the Lord." Scripture lesson by Reverend Lee. Song selection, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Prayer by Reverend Taggart. Anthem by choir, and then followed the address of the day, which is given in full, at the earnest solicitation of our readers:

14th psalm, 20th verse: "God hath Not dealt so with any nation." It is not our purpose on this Thanksgiving occasion to dwell upon the usual subjects presented at such an hour; but on the material blessings—the fruits of the field, though certainly we never had a year more prolific; our granaries are full; our store houses are running over; nor do we propose to speak of our protection; God has not permitted the pestilence, the famine, nor war, to come near our shores, nor do we propose to dwell on the spiritual mercies which have come so richly to us, but rather on the providence of God in our natural existence. (Exegetical omitted.) The Jewish nation was peculiar for its conservatism, its separation from other nations—that was necessary for the object to be attained, the development of the idea of incarnation. The preparation of a people, in thought and desire, for the visitation of Deity; when the word should be made flesh and dwell among them, the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth. The American nation is peculiar for a principle directly the opposite; its nearness to, and because of its composition from all other nations. As there is such a thing as the laws of a nation, so likewise there are the laws of the nations; and as there are national providences, so there are international providences. These latter figure conspicuously in the history of our beloved republic. If the former thought were necessary to the purpose of Israel, the latter is essential to the providence of God in American history. Our fathers came here for empire. They have founded it, so that, as an authority upon this subject has said, (Mr. Frost) the increase of our property in 20 years will buy the entire German empire. I say they have founded an empire—an empire in which every new-born babe is an heir apparent to the throne. We have thought that the words of this text might be beautifully and truthfully applied to the nation; we doubt it, in the history of the world, there has been a nation placed in an age, or in relations so pregnant with forceful issues. An opportunity to uplift so far, reaching to the truth. We propose to indicate some facts bearing on this, first from the age, and second from the questions that this nation has been called on to decide. We do not make this as a didactic—now, that obscure word is not the one I desire to use—systematic, or exclusive division, but shall use and intermingle the propositions as the progress of the thought may demand. A nation means, first the body of inhabitants of a country, united under the same government; the second element is a people distinguished from those of different descent. The first thought predominates in this nation. Let us take the scope of this text—"God has not dealt so with any nation;" not simply of this age, but of all ages. We may concede that there have been nations whose domain has been as great, or whose authority has been as imperative; but where has there been a nation whose providential influences have been so far reaching—may we not say world wide. Where a nation which could say, to so many people, 'I am bone of your bone and flesh of your flesh.' As this is true of the nation, it is true of the people that compose it. The people are the nation.

Why do you live in this age? Why do you stand on this mountain in time, rising higher than all others and affording such a prospective view? As we look at the past and see the vast empires that have risen and fallen, we think of the world as wrinkled and gray with age. Nevertheless, when we look at the problems that are in their initial stage, as we sum up the provisions in nature for future generations, as we reflect on the millions of years that this world was in preparation for man's home, as we consider that Israel's God is never improvident, we say, 'the world is yet clothed in the garments of childhood.' She has scarcely passed by Bethlehem. Standing on this mountain, looking over the sweep of the ages, why of all the ages do we live in this time? God has appointed us to live now. With the psalmist we may say, 'our times are in Thy hands.' What occasion for gratitude. Or why was our lot not cast in India, or China, or Africa, or Armenia, or some place where we would not have heard the story of the cross? Because God hath graciously appointed our existence here. Shall we not unite in giving thanks? Why do we continue to live under so many auspicious circumstances? Many of our friends and neighbors have dropped out of line during the past years. It is because God has something for us to do. How blessed the thought of David, 'the Lord thinketh on me.' The American nation is the right nation in the right place. This content was simultaneous in its discovery and progress with the reformation. These two principles have walked steadily through the decades, the one the complement of the other. About the same time printing was discovered, which we sometimes think of as the apocalyptic angel of the new dispensation, bearing, in the midst of the heavens, the everlasting gospel to every nation, tribe, kindred and people. Near the same time was the discovery of the compass, that matchless guide of the high seas. This nation arose when the nations of Europe were crowding each other; when tyranny was dominant; when every day there was danger of an explosion; it came on demand; it was to be the safety valve. The importance of the American nation is largely affected and intensified by the international issues of the age. The first question we consider is that of rule in Afghanistan by England or Russia. It is 80 years old. But the times indicate that it is near its culmination. It may be palliated for a few years, yet the lines are drawn so closely and the interests are so vast that it must soon break forth, inflamed and deepened, like a sore healed only on the surface. The science of medicine teaches that the healthy healing of a wound must begin at the deepest part. It is so in international dispute—the healing must begin at the foundation. The question to be settled is whether England or Russia shall rule in Afghanistan? Back of that, and very closely allied to it, which shall rule in India. And now there has been added China to the problem. All this means Mohammedanism or Christianity—the crescent or the cross for all of Asia, 850,000,000 of people, more than half the population of the globe. The advances of Russia and her usurpations for 50 years manifest her designs.

It is said, in diplomatic circles, Russia has stolen a march on England by coming into close and confidential relations with the Chinese government. Russia has made China a large preliminary loan, and the French government, with the aid of Parisian bankers, has found the money for Russia. There have no doubt been private stipulations, and it has been affirmed that the trans-Siberian railroad will find a route across China's territory to an advantageous harbor; and it is freely predicted that Port Arthur will fall into the hands of Russia. But old England never sleeps; she has simply placed these usurpations in the archives of the state, until final settlement shall come. Her queen, who is the princess of India, rules more Mohammedans than the sultan of Turkey. When this settlement comes, England will give the last man and the last dollar to maintain the honor of the queen. Russia has some advantages. She is neutral in religion. She does not endeavor to force the Greek church upon the Mohammedans. Where England rules, Protestantism will be taught and protected. When, some ten years ago, the question was up and discussed in the quarterlies and magazines, I was very much surprised to find Christian writers expressing themselves in sympathy with Russia, saying, "England needs a lesson; she is a tyrant; I hope she will be whipped." What has Russia ever done for humanity? What would the overthrow of English rule in the East mean? This: when the Son of Righteousness was rising upon eight hundred and fifty millions of people; when sunlight had come, that she should be turned back in her course

A Second street woman was very drunk on Broadway last night, and was making her presence known by loud shouts and whoops, when a member of the Salvation Army saved her from arrest by taking her home.

Tommy York, the wheelman whose name was in the mouths of all people interested in bicycle racing last summer, was here yesterday visiting at the home of his parents on Calcutta road. He is now employed in Youngstown.

Many sportsmen spent yesterday in the woods, and those who went far from town were rewarded for their long tramp. Price Mountford and Jonah Rambort went beyond Frankfort Springs, and returned with 18 rabbits.

James Rowe, the manager of a Zanesville tile works, but formerly engaged in this city as a member of the potting firm of Rowe & Mountford, was here today calling on oldtime friends. The gentleman is meeting with success in Zanesville.

Railings have been erected on the culverts in the East End and fences have been built on each side of the run. The improvement makes the road safe, as fear was felt that Martin Leatherow would sue the city for damages because he fell off the Mulberry street culvert and broke his arm not long ago.

Mrs. King, of Fifth street, is home from Springfield, where she attended a meeting of the trustees of the Odd Fellows home. Five different plans for the new building were presented, the cost ranging between $35,000 and $40,000, but none were accepted. They agreed upon a plan which will be presented at the next meeting of the board lodge, which will be held next May.

Officer King has taken down the last notice of contagious disease, lifted the last quarantine, and fumigated the last house. Once more the city is in very good health, there not being a case of dangerous disease in town. Alleys and back yards have been well cleaned for the winter, the last rain having done much to wash away the accumulated filth and garbage of the long draught.

The sewer pipe trade is in anything but a flourishing condition, and all the plants on the river are closed down with the exception of three, Walker's and Lythe's being among the fortunate. The bid for the contract at New Orleans may result in something good, but there is small hope among the manufacturers since there are pipe works along the Mississippi, and freights are much lower.

The muddy bosom of the Ohio has been the scene of activity and hard work the past few days, particularly yesterday and last night, when many towboats passed the city. A vast amount of coal went out, and there is no longer a scarcity. The river is now falling, but rivermen think the weather report for tomorrow means more water, provided it does not get too cold. The present stage, it is predicted, will last long enough to allow the coal men to get their product to market, as the boats are making good time.

The fog this morning was the most dense for months, and caused more than the usual inconvenience. The ferryboat was laid up until half the morning was gone, and parties having business in West Virginia were compelled to go over in skiffs, and the result was no end of a muddle. Some of them landed as far down as the glass works, and one boat turned in the river without the knowledge of the rowers and came back to this side. Street car men moved with more than the usual caution, but the schedule was maintained.

and darkness and superstition cast her garments over these lands. We admit that old England is a robber. She is greedy, but she always robs to bless. Old England is a thief, but she always steals to save. God bless old England. God bless the queen.

There has been added, in the past few months, another great factor to this problem. The persecution of Armenian Christians, so terrible that they remind us of the ten crusades. And now it seems that these persecutions are to be extended to the Jacobites, against whom no whisper of a charge of revolution has ever been uttered. The picture is very dark. American missionaries are scattered all over this country, in Bitlis, Van, Mardin, Sivas, Cesarea, Marsovan, Aintab, Marash, Adana, Tarsus, Brusa, Nicomedia, Smyrna, Constantinople; who can tell how soon this slaughter will strike these American citizens? Other nations having international complications hesitate on account of the division of the spoils. The American nation has no such complications. The missionaries at Bitlis have already telegraphed to Constantinople for an escort to Van. Can we trust that escort? They have a rough, wild country to go through. May they not be murdered by the way, as many others? Why shall not the white squadron go to the Bosphorus, and train her guns, the guns that stand for American liberty and the protection of American citizens everywhere, upon the palace of the sultan, ready to open fire with the first shedding of American blood? And the God of Moses and Joshua, and the God of battles shall be with us in this holy war.

Now, you say, what has this mighty problem to do with this nation? More, probably, than with any other nation in the years of the future, because, by the providential situation of this country, the commerce of these empires belongs to America, and these empires are the natural mart for the vast products of this great nation, and the Pacific coast, if we appreciate the situation and seize the opportunity, will be the mart for the products of these great nations. Then the American nation shall easily be the first commercial nation in the world.

There is another great problem that intensifies the importance of the American nation; the vast projects in Africa. The discovery of the source of the Nile is a question as old as Caesar. The glory of the solution belongs to this age. England, France, Germany and America shall provoke one another to emulation in scattering the light of civilization in this ample field. Very soon, under this combined effort, Africa must be subject to the world's civilization, Africa with two hundred millions of people. How much more intimately are we related to this problem with about six millions of Africans upon our own soil, and what shall we do to help solve the problem—the negro in America, and what shall become of him.

There is a third question that gives importance to the age. It is home rule for Ireland. Two hundred and fifty men own one half of Ireland—the best half—and they are not even residents. If time would permit, I should be glad to present the bearing of the opium traffic, the whisky traffic, to these international questions. It has been said every nation develops its land problem and its liquor problem. We may only say that, during the famine in Ireland, when the children were begging for three grains of corn, Ireland was consuming 4,000,000 bushels of grain in intoxicants. The question of home rule is up. It is that Ireland shall have sufficient interest in her soil to bring contentment and prosperity. They have struggled for ages to obtain recognition and redress of evident wrongs. God bless long suffering Ireland. It is a significant fact that the solution has been proposed by one of the most astute statesmen of the age, and having been proposed, it shall never be put down until justice is accorded.

These facts may serve to show that God hath not dealt so with any nation, in her intimate relations with the race. We are profoundly interested in Ireland, because of the Irishmen who are here. In Germany, because of the Germans who are here. In England, because of the Englishmen who are here. In Asia, because of the Asiatics who are here, and because of the probabilities of commerce. God has made this American nation a nation upon which He has focalized the world's problem. He has placed it upon a hill that it may be a light to the nations of the earth. Who shall be so audacious as to estimate what may be the international influence of this nation for the Christian religion, or how closely the American nation shall be connected with the bringing in of the glad time when the knowledge of salvation shall be published to the ends of the earth.

We would not excuse ourselves at this hour if we should not mention a subject that has an international and eternal influence, in which you are more interested than all others. I see many strange faces here today. I shall never speak to you again. This Thanksgiving service, and then the judgment. What is your personal faith in the Blessed Christ? To the American, it is either this religion, or no religion, this hope or no hope. Robert Robertson, who wrote 'mighty God, while angels bless thee, may a mortal lip thy name,' when told he was to occupy position and have influence, said 'I must go to God's altars and get ready.' Have you gotten ready for the position and influence of an American citizen? May the spirit of the Master be breathed upon us, enabling us to say, 'Lord, I believe in thee, help thou mine unbelief.'

THOUGHT IT WAS HUCKLE.

Fun in One of the Alleys of the City.

At about 10 o'clock last night a well known resident, of an inquisitive turn of mind, determined to do a little detective work on his own account, merely to ascertain if the stories about houses of ill fame in the city were true. He asked a friend to accompany him, and a very strict search developed the fact that a rancho was being run almost in the center of the city by two sisters and that the house was well patronized last night. One of the sisters was summoned to the door by the amateur sleuth, and she requested him to call again, as the house was full of customers. The visitor stated that it was all right, and took his departure, but placed himself in a favorable position for noting those who entered or left the house. Shortly afterward one of the girls came from the domicile, crossed the alley, peered into the resident's face closely, and cried out, "You are Huckle," at the same time calling for her sister, who answered the call and came rushing to the spot, demanding, "Are you Huckle; are you Huckle?" They were warned away, but replied with curses as they entered the house. Then the amateur, realizing that the situation was becoming dangerous and serious, started to retreat, when he was followed by three men who had evidently been sent after him, and coal stones, clods and pieces of brick came hurtling about his head, one fragment of brick caving in his hat and destroying its shape. Now thoroughly scared, the resident pulled his revolver, and as the reflection showed from an adjoining light upon the steel barrel, the assailants caught a glimpse thereof and fled as if the demons of hell were at their heels. It was a funny break and will not be repeated by the amateur.

ONE OF THE FINEST

Will Be the Entertainment of St. Aloysius' Church.

The entertainment to be given by St. Aloysius' church at the Grand on Monday evening will be one of the best ever held in the city. Miss Connelly, an accomplished vocalist of Wueeling, and Mr. Jones, a talented elocutionist of McKeesport, will take prominent parts. Another feature will be the Delsarte exhibition by a class from the parochial school. To advertise the entertainment, the society having it in charge issued a program containing the announcement of leading business houses, and they have just cause to feel proud of the success they have made of it, their artistic taste and excellent judgment being seen in the arrangement of the advertisements. The work was done in the job rooms of the News Review, and has a prominent place in the best specimens of the printer's art to be found in the city.

A SHORTAGE.

The Old Cry of No Gas Sounded Through the City.

The cold snap was followed by the usual cry of no gas, and there was a shortage yesterday morning that caused many a housewife, vainly endeavoring to prepare a Thanksgiving dinner, to think thoughts not in accordance with the good feeling of the day. Bridgewater consumers were suffering, but the Ohio Valley customers had next to none. The big pumps at Burgettstown broke down early in the morning, and caused no end of trouble and inconvenience before they were repaired. There was abundant gas in the mains before the accident occurred.

The People's Lecture course, which was a great success last winter, was inaugurated for the season by a lecture from Doctor Leland, on "World Making."

The lecture, which occupied nearly two hours, was a very happy blending of the popular and scientific. There were passages of rare beauty and eloquence; and while discussing the most intricate questions of geology and astronomy, it was done with such simplicity and pure English that the audience was held by the speaker from the first word to the last.—Pittsburgh Daily Dispatch.

A Great Knish.

When the crowd pushed through the small opening in the fence near the grand stand to get on the Horn switch after the football game yesterday afternoon, there was a crush. The hole was small and the crowd was large, while everyone seemed to think that to get out of there in short order was a matter of life and death, and they pushed and fought as much as the players had during the game. No one was hurt, but many came out of the melee rubbing their shins and heads.

Henry Wilson, the postmaster at Welshton, Florida, says he cured a case of diarrhoea of long standing in six hours, with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. What a pleasant surprise that must have been to the sufferer. Such cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A New Daughter.

Friends of P. A. Shanor, a prominent attorney of Sistersville, will learn with pleasure that he is the happy father of a baby daughter. Mr. Shanor has many friends among the Junior Mechanics of the city.

For a pain in the side or chest there is nothing so good as a piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. It affords prompt and permanent relief and if used in time will often prevent a cold from resulting in pneumonia. This same treatment is a sure cure for lame back. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

Cherokees Compromise With Negroes.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Nov. 29.—A big law suit, brought by the colored people of the Cherokee country who were brought into the nation as slaves and afterward became freemen against the Cherokees to establish their rights as Cherokee citizens, has been compromised. The settlement as agreed upon makes the colored people members of the Cherokee nation and entitles the to about $1,300,000 of the money received for their strip and their proper interest in the unsold lands, comprising many millions of acres.

Cuban Insurgents Driven Off.

HAVANA, Nov. 29.—Advices received here from Santi Spiritus, province of Santa Clara, say that the insurgents recently attacked Fort Jicotea, near Ciego de Avila, in the province of Puerto Principe. The garrison, it is stated, made a brave defense and the insurgents were repulsed, leaving 1 killed upon the field. Fort Reforma, on the borders of the provinces of Santa Clara and Puerto Principe, was besieged but the insurgents were driven off.

A Government Steamer Sunk.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29.—The government steamer Golden Rod, commanded by Major George Vandegrift, which left here Tuesday morning with a heavy supply of oil to carry to light-houses up the river, has struck a snag below Maysville, Ky., and sunk in six feet of water. The Gate City at Maysville went to her assistance. It is likely that she can be raised and repaired.

Maher to Fitzsimmons.

DETROIT, Nov. 29.—John J. Quinn, Peter Maher's manager, says: "I will match Maher against Fitzsimmons at any place named, next week, for any amount from $5,000 upward, and will arrange that Maher fight Fitzsimmons at any time or place which Julian may set, either in private or public."

Broken Arms.

Joseph Curran, a boy, fell on the railroad last night and broke his arm above the elbow.

Mrs. Calhoun, of Seventh street, fell at her home on Wednesday evening and broke her arm. The fracture is a bad one, but the lady is better today.

The lecture given last evening at the Y. M. C. A. hall by Doctor Leland on "World Making" was well attended by an intelligent audience. It was a good one. The delighted audience hung upon the words of the gifted lecturer to the close.—Memphis (Tenn.) Daily Avalanche.

and darkness and superstition cast her garments over these lands. We admit that old England is a robber. She is greedy, but she always robs to bless. Old England is a thief, but she always steals to save. God bless old England. God bless the queen.

There has been added, in the past few months, another great factor to this problem. The persecution of Armenian Christians, so terrible that they remind us of the ten crusades. And now it seems that these persecutions are to be extended to the Jacobites, against whom no whisper of a charge of revolution has ever been uttered. The picture is very dark. American missionaries are scattered all over this country, in Bitlis, Van, Mardin, Sivas, Cesarea, Marsovan, Aintab, Marash, Adana, Tarsus, Brusa, Nicomedia, Smyrna, Constantinople; who can tell how soon this slaughter will strike these American citizens? Other nations having international complications hesitate on account of the division of the spoils. The American nation has no such complications. The missionaries at Bitlis have already telegraphed to Constantinople for an escort to Van. Can we trust that escort? They have a rough, wild country to go through. May they not be murdered by the way, as many others? Why shall not the white squadron go to the Bosphorus, and train her guns, the guns that stand for American liberty and the protection of American citizens everywhere, upon the palace of the sultan, ready to open fire with the first shedding of American blood? And the God of Moses and Joshua, and the God of battles shall be with us in this holy war.

Now, you say, what has this mighty problem to do with this nation? More, probably, than with any other nation in the years of the future, because, by the providential situation of this country, the commerce of these empires belongs to America, and these empires are the natural mart for the vast products of this great nation, and the Pacific coast, if we appreciate the situation and seize the opportunity, will be the mart for the products of these great nations. Then the American nation shall easily be the first commercial nation in the world.

There is another great problem that intensifies the importance of the American nation; the vast projects in Africa. The discovery of the source of the Nile is a question as old as Coesar. The glory of the solution belongs to this age. England, France, Germany and America shall provoke one another to emulation in scattering the light of civilization in this ample field. Very soon, under this combined effort, Africa must be subject to the world's civilization, Africa with two hundred millions of people. How much more intimately are we related to this problem with about six millions of Africans upon our own soil, and what shall we do to help solve the problem—the negro in America, and what shall become of him.

There is a third question that gives importance to the age. It is home rule for Ireland. Two hundred and fifty men own one half of Ireland—the best half—and they are not even residents. If time would permit, I should be glad to present the bearing of the opium traffic, the whisky traffic, to these international questions. It has been said every nation develops its land problem and its liquor problem. We may only say that, during the famine in Ireland, when the children were begging for three grains of corn, Ireland was consuming 4,000,000 bushels of grain in intoxicants. The question of home rule is up. It is that Ireland shall have sufficient interest in her soil to bring contentment and prosperity. They have struggled for ages to obtain recognition and redress of evident wrongs. God bless long suffering Ireland. It is a significant fact that the solution has been proposed by one of the most astute statesmen of the age, and having been proposed, it shall never be put down until justice is accorded.

These facts may serve to show that God hath not dealt so with any nation, in her intimate relations with the race. We are profoundly interested in Ireland, because of the Irishmen who are here. In Germany, because of the Germans who are here. In England, because of the Englishmen who are here. In Asia, because of the Asiatics who are here, and because of the probabilities of commerce. God has made this American nation a nation upon which He has focalized the world's problem. He has placed it upon a hill that it may be a light to the nations of the earth. Who shall be so audacious as to estimate what may be the international influence of this nation for the Christian religion, or how closely the American nation shall be connected with the bringing in of the glad time when the knowledge of salvation shall be published to the ends of the earth.

We would not excuse ourselves at this hour if we should not mention a subject that has an international and

eternal influence, in which you are more interested than all others. I see many strange faces here today. I shall never speak to you again. This Thanksgiving service, and then the judgment. What is your personal faith in the blessed Christ? To the American, it is either this religion, or no religion, this hope or no hope. Robert Robertson, who wrote 'mighty God, while angels bless thee, may a mortal lip they name,' when told he was to occupy position and have influence, said 'I must go to God's altars and get ready.' Have you gotten ready for the position and influence of an American citizen? May the spirit of the Master be breathed upon us, enabling us to say, 'Lord, I believe in thee, help thou mine unbelief.'

THOUGHT IT WAS HUCKLE.

Fun in One of the Alleys of the City.

At about 10 o'clock last night a well known resident, of an inquisitive turn of mind, determined to do a little detective work on his own account, merely to ascertain if the stories about houses of ill fame in the city were true. He asked a friend to accompany him, and a very strict search developed the fact that a ranche was being run almost in the center of the city by two sisters and that the house was well patronized last night. One of the sisters was summoned to the door by the amateur sleuth, and she requested him to call again, as the house was full of customers. The visitor stated that it was all right, and took his departure, but placed himself in a favorable position for noting those who entered or left the house. Shortly afterward one of the girls came from the domicile, crossed the alley, peered into the resident's face closely, and cried out, "You are Huckle," at the same time calling for her sister, who answered the call and came rushing to the spot, demanding, "Are you Huckle; are you Huckle?" They were warned away, but replied with curses as they entered the house. Then the amateur, realizing that the situation was becoming dangerous and serious, started to retreat, when he was followed by three men who had evidently been sent after him, and coal stones, clods and pieces of brick came hurtling about his head, one fragment of brick caving in his hat and destroying its shape. Now thoroughly scared, the resident pulled his revolver, and as the reflection showed from an adjoining light upon the steel barrel, the assailants caught a glimpse thereof and fled as if the demons of hades were at their heels. It was a funny break and will not be repeated by the amateur.

ONE OF THE FINEST

Will Be the Entertainment of St. Aloysius' Church.

The entertainment to be given by St. Aloysius' church at the Grand on Monday evening will be one of the best ever held in the city. Miss Connelly, an accomplished vocalist of Wheeling, and Mr. Jones, a talented elocutionist of McKeesport, will take prominent parts. Another feature will be the Delsarte exhibition by a class from the parochial school. To advertise the entertainment, the society having it in charge issued a program containing the announcement of leading business houses, and they have just cause to feel proud of the success they have made of it, their artistic taste and excellent judgment being seen in the arrangement of the advertisements. The work was done in the job rooms of the News Review, and has a prominent place in the best specimens of the printer's art to be found in the city.

A SHORTAGE.

The Old Cry of No Gas Sounded Through the City.

The cold snap was followed by the usual cry of no gas, and there was a shortage yesterday morning that caused many a housewife, vainly endeavoring to prepare a Thanksgiving dinner, to think thoughts not in accordance with the good feeling of the day. Bridgewater consumers were suffering, but the Ohio Valley customers had next to none. The big pumps at Burgettstown broke down early in the morning, and caused no end of trouble and inconvenience before they were repaired. There was abundant gas in the mains before the accident occurred.

The People's Lecture course, which was a great success last winter, was inaugurated for the season by a lecture from Doctor Leland, on "World Making." The lecture, which occupied nearly two hours, was a very happy blending of the popular and scientific. There were passages of rare beauty and eloquence; and while discussing the most intricate questions of geology and astronomy, it was done with such simplicity and pure English that the audience was held by the speaker from the first word to the last.—Pittsburg Daily Dispatch.

A Great Rush.

When the crowd pushed through the small opening in the fence near the grand stand to get on the Horn switch after the football game yesterday afternoon, there was a crush. The hole was small and the crowd was large, while everyone seemed to think that to get out of there in short order was a matter of life and death, and they pushed and fought as much as the players had during the game. No one was hurt, but many came out of the melee rubbing their shins and heads.

Henry Wilson, the postmaster at Weishton, Florida, says he cured a case of diarrhoea of long standing in six hours, with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. What a pleasant surprise that must have been to the sufferer. Such cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A New Daughter.

Friends of P. A. Shanor, a prominent attorney of Sistersville, will learn with pleasure that he is the happy father of a baby daughter. Mr. Shanor has many friends among the Junior Mechanics of the city.

For a pain in the side or chest there is nothing so good as a piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound over the seat of pain. It affords prompt and permanent relief and if used in time will often prevent a cold from resulting in pneumonia. This same treatment is a sure cure for lame back. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

When they get soiled you can clean them in a minute by simply wiping off with a wet cloth. These are but a few of the advantages of wearing the "Celluloid" Collars and Cuffs. There are many others that you will readily discover the first time you wear one.

Cherokees Compromise With Negroes.

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Nov. 29.—A big law suit, brought by the colored people of the Cherokee country who were brought into the nation as slaves and afterward became freemen against the Cherokees to establish their rights as Cherokee citizens, has been compromised. The settlement as agreed upon makes the colored people members of the Cherokee nation and entitles them to about $1,300,000 of the money received for their strip and their proper interest in the unsold lands, comprising many millions of acres.

Cuban Insurgents Driven Off.

HAVANA, Nov. 29.—Advices received here from Santi Spiritus, province of Santa Clara, say that the insurgents recently attacked Fort Jicoteta, near Ciego de Avila, in the province of Puerto Principe. The garrison, it is stated, made a brave defense and the insurgents were repulsed, leaving 1 killed upon the field. Fort Reforma, on the borders of the provinces of Santa Clara and Puerto Principe, was besieged but the insurgents were driven off.

A Government Steamer Sunk.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29.—The government steamer Golden Rod, commanded by Major George Vandegrift, which left here Tuesday morning with a heavy supply of oil to carry to light-houses up the river, has struck a snag below Maysville, Ky., and sunk in six feet of water. The Gate City at Maysville went to her assistance. It is likely that she can be raised and repaired.

Maher to Fitzsimmons.

DETROIT, Nov. 29.—John J. Quinn, Peter Maher's manager, says: "I will match Maher against Fitzsimmons at any place named, next week, for any amount from $5,000 upward, and will arrange that Maher fight Fitzsimmons at any time or place which Julian may set, either in private or public."

Broken Arms.

Joseph Curren, a boy, fell on the railroad last night and broke his arm above the elbow.

Mrs. Calhoun, of Seventh street, fell at her home on Wednesday evening and broke her arm. The fracture is a bad one, but the lady is better today.

The lecture given last evening at the Y. M. C. A. hall by Doctor Leland on "World Making" was well attended by an intelligent audience. It was a good one. The delighted audience hung upon the words of the gifted lecturer to the close.—Memphis (Tenn.) Daily Avalanche.
